

STRATEGIC PLAN

— MEDIA FOUNDATION FOR WEST AFRICA —

JANUARY 2022 – DECEMBER 2024

The Context & Approach

This strategic plan has been developed to provide clear programmatic and operational directions for the Media Foundation for West Africa (MFWA) over the next three years (January 2022 – December 2024). Informed by the prevailing context and emerging issues, the plan is framed to help the organisation appropriately respond to the Freedom of Expression (FOE), governance and development challenges in the West Africa region. The plan will also guide the organisation to channel resources and staff efforts towards clear agreed outcomes and targets.

The strategy was developed through a stakeholder participatory process. The processes included an initial stakeholders' survey. Respondents to the survey included funders, national partners, development experts and board members. There was also a joint three-day strategic planning meeting of board members, staff and expert resource persons; separate staff meetings to review initial drafts; and solicitation of inputs from expert resource persons. These processes were used to review and assess the performance of the MFWA over the past five years; analyse strengths and weaknesses of the organisation; identify prevailing opportunities that the organisation can take advantage of; and determine the real and potential threats to the organisation and its work going forward.

The process also involved a thorough review and discussion of the prevailing governance and freedom of expression challenges in the region and identifying appropriate strategies the MFWA can adopt to contribute significantly in dealing with those challenges.

Based on the analysis, the following were identified as the key contextual issues:

Contextual issues

- Democratic backsliding in the region
- Growing and deepening inequality
- Overt intolerance of the media and free expression
- Existence of legal provisions that criminalise various aspects of speech offences
- New laws aimed at managing COVID-19, terrorism and cybercrimes being used as tools to crack down on expression (online and offline)
- Exorbitant libel damages which threaten the survival of media and deter critical reporting
- Inadequate funding and sustainability challenges (for media organisations and media support organisations)
- Weak investigative journalism and accountability reporting
- Dwindling public trust and confidence in the media
- Falling professional standards in media
- Proliferation of misinformation/ disinformation
- Shrinking civic spaces and decreasing civic participation in governance
- Clamping down of protesters with brute force by state security agents
- Uncertainties about the COVID-19 pandemic and its overall impact
- Increasing gender gap (both online and offline) and growing disempowerment of women

Our Vision

A West Africa in which all persons enjoy the right to freedom of expression without fear or threat by any actors.

Our Mission

To promote and defend the right to freedom of expression of all persons particularly the media and human rights defenders in West Africa.

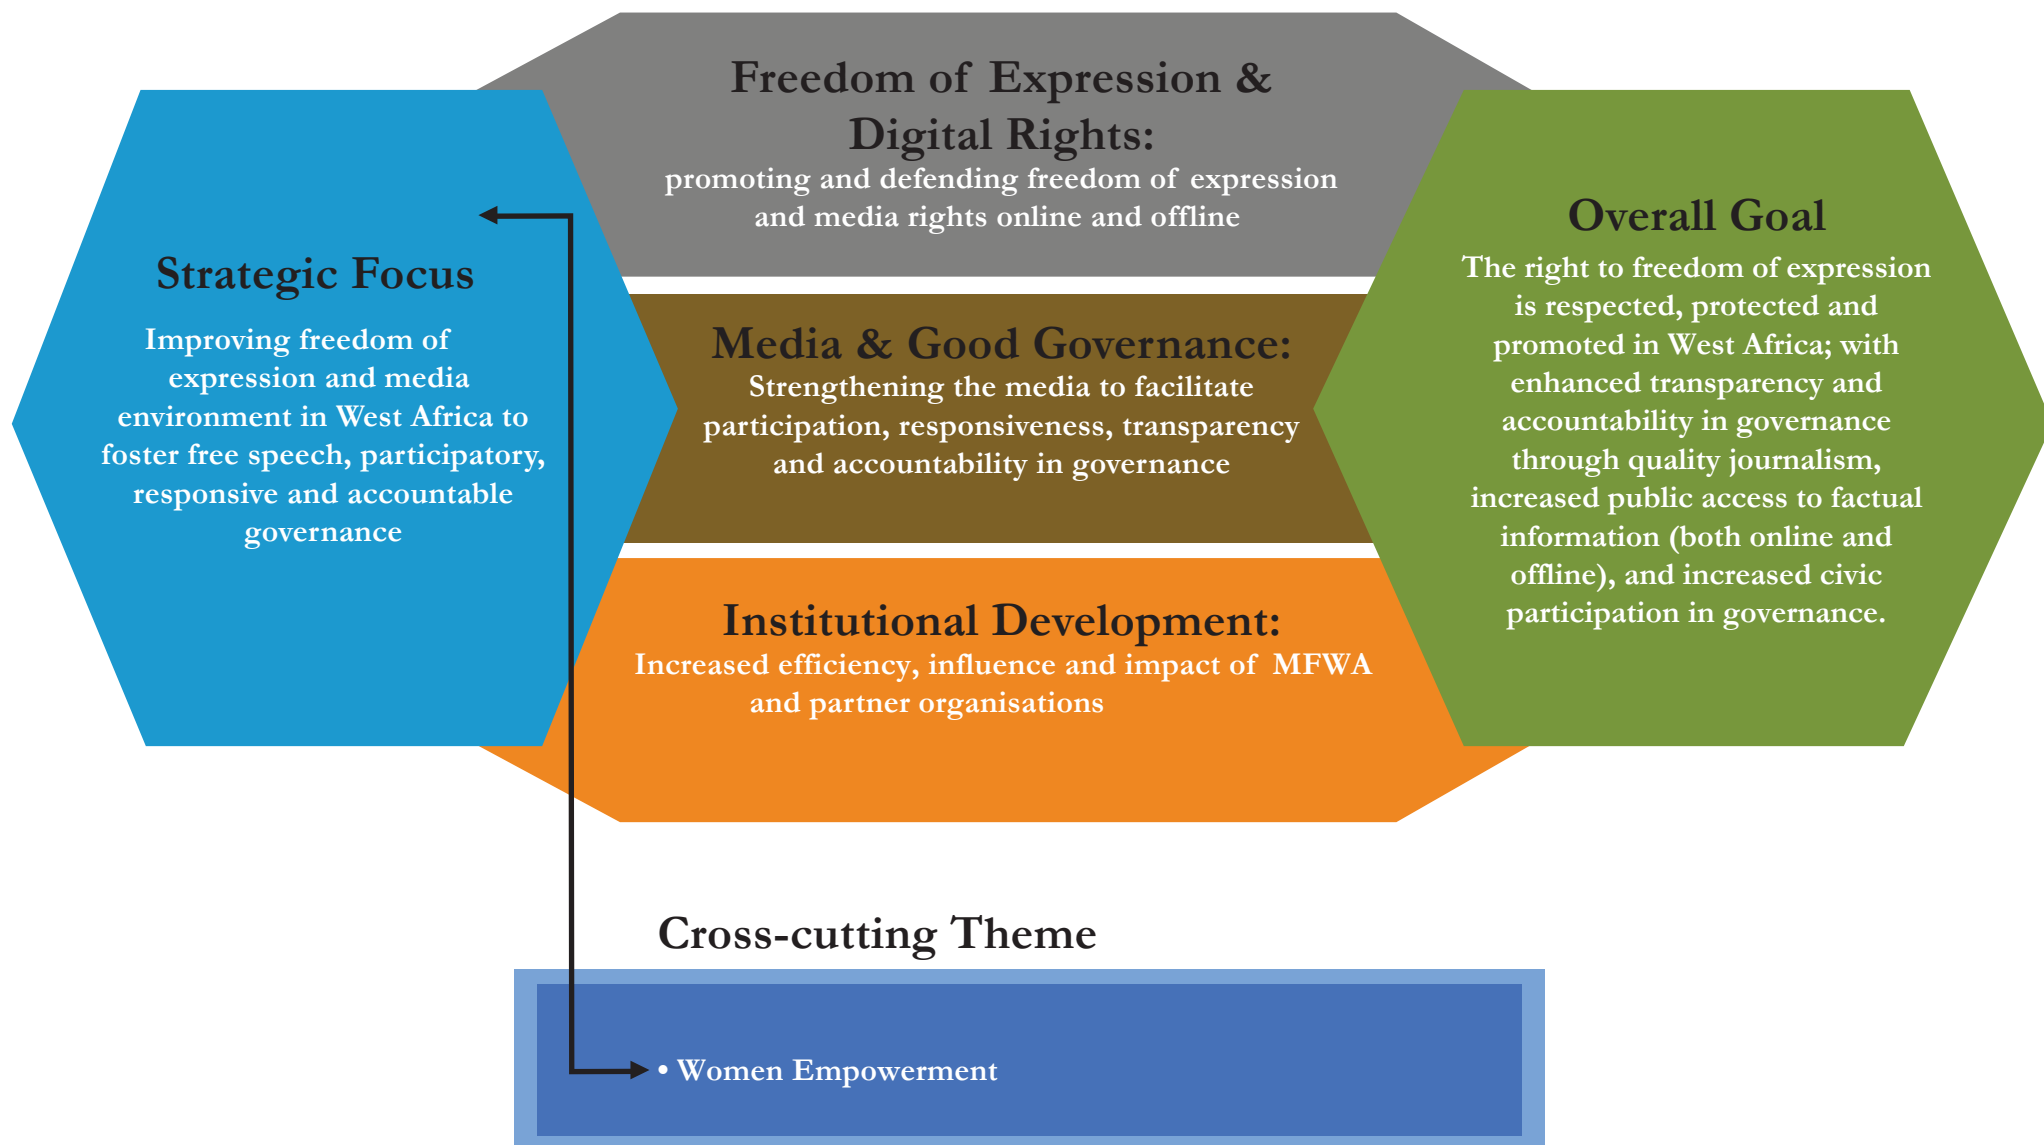

Values

In pursuit of our overall goal and programatic objectives, the following core values will guide the organisation's work:

- Equality, liberty and social justice irrespective of belief, race, ethnicity, or sex.
- Independent, non-partisan and non-sectarian
- Excellence and professionalism
- Accountability, transparency and good stewardship
- Teamwork, collaboration, cooperation, partnership and solidarity

Programmatic Response

Over the strategy period, the organisation will respond to the contextual challenges through three programmatic interventions with an overall strategic goal as outlined in the diagram below

Strategic Issues to be Addressed

Objectives

Over the strategy period, the focus will be on the following three objectives:

Freedom of Expression A freer and safer environment for independent journalism and expression (offline and online)

Media and Good Governance Strengthened media capacity that enables participatory, responsive, transparent and accountable governance

Institutional Development Increased efficiency, influence and impact of MFWA and its partner organisations

Strategies

- Engagements with governments and other stakeholders
- Strategic partnerships, coalition building and collaborations
- Campaigns and advocacy
- Meetings, seminars, workshops, forums and conferences
- Capacity strengthening for journalists, media organisations and media support organisations
- Investigative journalism and fact-checking
- Research, documentation and knowledge sharing
- Adapting, responding and taking advantage of new developments and emerging issues
- Prioritisation and mainstreaming of women empowerment in all operations

Assumptions

- That COVID-19 and other public health crises will not significantly disrupt operations and implementation of work
- That there will be political stability that enables engagements and interventions
- That state and non-state actors will be committed to addressing media and FOE challenges
- That there will be public support for advocacy against FOE and media rights violations
- That there will be an increased commitment of journalists to do investigative fact-based reporting
- That state institutions will be more responsive to making information available
- That media support organisations in the region and beyond will contribute to efforts to improve press freedom and freedom of expression
- That there would be a safer and more tolerant environment for critical investigative journalism
